Drug company, Troikaa Pharmaceuticals Ltd, on Tuesday launched Dynapar QPS, a wonder painkiller that reduces pain faster, has low side effects because it only targets the affected area.

Speaking at Ryalls Hotel in Blantyre during the launch which included medical practitioners from the commercial city, Troikaa deputy general manager for international business, Digant Modha said treating patients with acute and chronic muscular and joint pain has been a challenge for clinicians.

“Currently, available medications do not give desired pain relief due to their inability to penetrate through the skin barrier; hence, medical practitioners have to depend on oral painkillers. It is however proven worldwide that long-term use of oral painkillers leads to life-threatening damage to vital organs including the stomach, heart and kidneys,” said Modha.

He noted that Troikaa has filled the vacuum with the launch of Dynapar QPS, a globally patented pain relieving spray and gel.

Speaking during the launch, orthopaedic consultant Dr. Samuel Maina said although oral painkillers are still effective ,they are dangerous because they may cause stroke or renal failure.

“Dynapar QPS is targeted and improves drug delivery and enhances efficacy. The drug also avoids collateral damage and side effects,” said Maina.

Dr Randy Gombwa of Chitawira Private Hospital commenting on the drug said although he has used it on patients for a short period, the drag is promising.
